Dear Sean

Thank you for your recent correspondence in response to the recent death our officer and colleague Andrew Harper.

The tragic circumstances of this incident has and continues to affect many, especially those within our police family. It is a harsh reminder of the dangers our colleagues face on a daily basis and I would like to thank you for your offers of support.

I greatly appreciate the time you have taken to send your condolences and the compassion shown by everyone, especially in our police family, has been exemplary. We will ensure that all messages for the family will be shared with them at an appropriate time.

Thank you again for taking the time to convey your personal thoughts.

Yours sincerely

John Campbell
Chief Constable
