

Life after the Police

Privacy Policy

1. Introduction.

This privacy policy sets out the way we process your personal information. It deals with how we collect information, what we do with it, how we protect it and what controls or rights you have. By visiting www.narpo.org or continuing as a member or becoming a member or supporter of the National Association of Retired Police Officers (NARPO) you are accepting and consenting to the practices described in this policy. We may change this policy from time to time. The date this policy was last updated is shown at the end of this document.

As a data controller, we fully comply with the Data Protection Act 2018, the Privacy and Electronic Communications Regulations 2003 and the General Data Protection Regulations (EC Directive) 2016 (GDPR).

We are recorded on the ICO Data Protection Register under registration number Z5666068.

2. Your Privacy – our promise.

We are committed to protecting the privacy of our members and supporters and will treat all information you give us with care.

We promise to:

- Tell you why we collect personal information, how we do this and what we use it for.
- Only collect the information we need to deliver the service to you.
- Never sell your personal information or let other organisations use it for marketing.
- Keep the personal information up to date and ensure it is safe and secure.
- Require any suppliers or partners who work with us to have privacy policies.

3. Who we are.

In this policy references to the National Association of Retired Police Officers or NARPO are to National Association of Retired Police Officers, 38 Bond Street, Wakefield, WF1 2QP.

The controllers are the National Executive Committee of the NARPO and The Officers of each NARPO Branch.

Life after the Police

4. What information we collect and how we collect it.

We collect personal information about you to enable us to provide the service to you. This includes:

- Name and address.
- Email address and telephone numbers.
- Any credit card details, bank details, previous organisation employed with, pension details, national insurance number, date of birth, personal description, photographs or other information.
- Any personal information you give to us when you contact head office or a branch.
- Any personal information you give to any of our Welfare Officers.
- When you visit our website we collect information about your IP address and pages you visit. This does not tell us who you are or your address, unless you choose to provide that information.
- We do not use or disclose sensitive personal data, such as race, religion or political affiliations without your explicit consent.
- Your payment information (e.g. credit card details) provided when you make a purchase from our website is not received or stored by us. That information is processed securely and privately by the third party payment processors that we use. We may share your personal data with our payment processors, but only for the purpose of completing the relevant payment transaction. Such payment processors are banned from using your personal data, except to provide these necessary payment services to us, and they are required to maintain the confidentiality of your personal data and payment information.

We collect the personal information in the following ways:

- When you provide information by filling in a form whether on our website or a paper form.
- When you correspond with us by email, phone or other ways.
- Enter a competition, promotion or survey.
- When you participate in discussion forums or other social media on our site or sites managed by us.
- Information from third parties including business partners, service providers, technical sub-contractors, payment and delivery services, advertisers when you have given permission to share it with us.
- In meetings or contact with a Branch Official.
- When you take part in a social event.
- From publicly available services to keep your information up to date for example the Post Offices National Change of Address database.

Life after the Police

5. How we use the information and why we need it.

We use the personal information to provide the services and to meet our contractual commitments to you. In addition, this may include:

- Processing – this will include using the information to fulfil any request made by you to purchase a product, receive one of our services, receive our magazine, receive an email newsletter, become a member or renewing membership or to fulfil a contract with you. It will also include putting names and photographs of members or new members in the magazine, newsletter or on a website.
- Marketing – in addition to processing we will use your personal information to provide you with information about products or services you have requested or would reasonably expect to receive from us. You will be able to change your mind at any time and we will keep your preferences up to date. Any email to you about marketing will have a link to let you unsubscribe.
- Legitimate interests – NARPO also processes your data when it is in our legitimate interest to do this and when these interests do not override your rights. These legitimate interests include:
 - providing you with information on products, services, membership, fundraising, competitions, campaigning, appeals, feedback, or offers by partner service providers.
 - Keeping our records up to date.
 - For statistical research and analysis and to enable us to monitor and improve services.
 - Sharing your personal information with people or organisations in order to comply with any legal or regulatory obligations or to enable us to run our organisation.
 - To fulfil laws that apply to us and the third parties we work with.
 - Managing our relationships with you and third parties who assist us to provide the services to you.
- Consent – where we need your consent we will ensure you are as fully informed as possible and use that consent solely for the reason you have given it to us. You will be able to change your mind at any time by contacting us at the address in paragraph 11 or by email at dpo@narpo.org Any email or text to you will have a link to let you do so.
- Profiling – we may make use of profiling and screening methods to provide a better service to members and supporters. Profiling helps us target resources more effectively through gaining an insight into the background of members and supporters and helping us build relationships that are appropriate to their interests.

6. Who will see the information?

Life after the Police

Your information will only be accessible to our staff and relevant branch officials and only where it is appropriate in respect of the role they are carrying out. We will never sell your information or let other organisations use it for their own purposes.

We will only share your personal information:

- If you have consented to us doing so and for the specific reason your consent was given. You will have the opportunity to withhold consent when you complete the form on which we collect the data or you can do so by writing to us at the address in paragraph 11, or sending us an email to hq@narpo.org at any time.
- Where we use other companies to provide services on our behalf for processing, mailing, delivering orders, answering members or supporter's questions about products or services, sending mail and emails, data analysis, assessment and profiling, or processing credit/debit card payments.
- To others who are to supply services or products you have requested.
- When using auditors and professional advisors and with pension administrators.
- Organisations providing IT systems, IT support and hosting in relation to IT systems on which information is stored.
- With our relevant Branches and when putting members or new member's names or photographs in the magazine, a newsletter or on a website.
- When we are legally required to, or because of a lawful request by a governmental or law enforcement authority.
- If we merge with another organisation or form a new entity.
- To any organisation requesting a reference when you have applied for a position with the organisation, or to join the organisation in some capacity.

7. Security.

The security of your personal information is very important to us.

All information you provide to us is stored on computers protected with security. Any payment transactions will be encrypted. Where we have given you (or where you have chosen) a password which enables you to access certain parts of our site, you are responsible for keeping this password confidential. We ask you not to share a password with anyone.

Unfortunately, the transmission of information via the internet is not completely secure. Although we will do our best to protect your personal data, we cannot guarantee the security of your data transmitted to our site; any transmission is at your own risk. Once we have received your information, we will use strict procedures and security features to try to prevent unauthorised access.

All the personal data is processed in the UK however for IT hosting and maintenance your information may be situated outside the European Economic Area (EEA).

You might find links to third party websites on our website. These websites should have their own privacy policies, which you should check. We do not accept any responsibility or liability for their policies whatsoever as we have no control over them.

Life after the Police

Your rights.

You have the following rights:

- Transparency over how we use your personal information (right to be informed).
- To request a copy of the information we hold about you, which will be provided to you within one month (right of access).
- An update or amendment of the information we hold about you (right of rectification).
- To ask us to stop using information (right to restrict processing).

- Ask us to remove your personal information from our records (right to be forgotten).
- Request us to remove your information for marketing purposes (right to object).
- To obtain and reuse your personal data for your own purposes (right to portability).
- Not to be subject to a decision based on automated processing.

You can write to us about any of these rights at the address in paragraph 11 or by email to hq@narpo.org. There is no charge for a request and we will respond to the request within one month.

If you are not satisfied with the way in which we deal with your request you can contact the Information Commissioner's Office on 0303 123 1113 or at their website www.ico.org.uk.

9. Cookies.

Our website uses cookies to distinguish you from other users of our website. This helps us to provide you with a good experience when you browse our website and also allows us to improve our site. By continuing to browse the site, you are agreeing to our use of cookies.

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that we store on your browser or the hard drive of your computer if you agree. Cookies contain information that is transferred to your computer's hard drive.

We use the following cookies:

- Strictly necessary cookies. These are cookies that are required for the operation of our website. They include, for example, cookies that enable you to log into secure areas of our website, use a shopping cart or make use of e-billing services.

Life after the Police

Analytical/performance cookies. These allow us to recognise and count the number of visitors and to see how visitors move around our website when they are using it. This helps us to improve the way our website works, for example, by ensuring that users are finding what they are looking for easily.

- Functionality cookies. These are used to recognise you when you return to our website. This enables us to personalise our content for you, greet you by name and remember your preferences (for example, your choice of language or region).
- Targeting cookies. These cookies record your visit to our website, the pages you have visited and the links you have followed. We will use this information to make our website and the advertising displayed on it more relevant to your interests. We may also share this information with third parties for this purpose.

10. Retention of information.

We hold your information only for as long as necessary for each purpose we use it. This will normally be two years from our last interaction with you unless for legal or taxation reasons it is necessary to retain it for a longer period.

11. How to contact us.

If you have any questions about this privacy policy or your rights regarding processing your personal information, or wish to make a complaint please contact:

National Association of Retired Police Officers, 38 Bond Street, Wakefield, WF1 2QP.
Email - dpo@narpo.org.

This policy was last updated on 4th December 2020